

Dear Sir or Madam,

There is something about the world today that often lacks hope. We have a terrible day, or something happens to someone we love. Perhaps even the stresses of work or education drive us down to the ground. That's when we need a lift- that's when people listen to KLOVE Christian Radio Station.

This, however, is not the only reason for listening to such a station. All content in this station is pure, loving, and joyful. They provide assistance to those in need, those who may have trouble making it through the storms of life on their own. With the new propositions, such ministry may be difficult to afford, etc, and thus be discontinued.

I also have a personal experience with this station. Not five years ago, my mother was going through a difficult stage in life. She was someone who needed guidance and hope, and without listening to this station. she would have died.

The First Amendment confirms the right of this station and its listeners. Any change that affects the free speech of this station, especially when supported solely by listeners themselves, would be unconstitutional.

With all this said, I request that such limitations as proposed would not be imposed, and the radio may be the free market we still enjoy.

God bless!
